Hospital introduces new automated registration system

In their intent on improving the service to the community, the Dr. Horacio Oduber Hospital has invested in a modern automated, digital system to register patients. In order to implement this new system it is necessary for the hospital to actualize their current registration system.

Hospital IT technicians together with personnel of the departments of care and administration are working diligently for several weeks now on the actualization of their data base and the complete patient registration program.

The new program will signal a significant advancement in the total process of registering a patient using any of the hospital's services.

To ensure an optimal introduction of the new program, the hospital will have to shut down the current program temporarily. This will occur on the 18th and 19th of June between 12 midnight and 6:00 in the morning. The process of actualization is not expected to affect the hospital's medical care of its patients. It is possible, however, that the administrative process, such as the registration of a patient, may be somewhat slower for a few days.

The hospital is convinced that this new system, once it is fully implemented and operational, will increase the level of service to patients and will be a formidable advancement. This is exactly in keeping with the goal of the hospital, that is, to offer the best of service to patients.

The Aruba hospital exists for 34 years and is named after Aruba's first Aruban doctor, Dr. Horacio Oduber. Today the hospital has 18.000 patients either as resident or outpatient. They have a total of 850 employees in their service. As the only hospital on the island they are cognizant of the responsibility to continue working diligently to surpass the expectations of all patients.

US: We will kill Zawahiri just like bin Laden

WASHINGTON, (AFP) - The United States Thursday dismissed new Al-Qaeda supremo Ayman al-Zawahiri as a pale imitation of Osama bin Laden and warned the Egyptian to expect a similar fate to his slain predecessor.

US officials painted the 59-year-old long-time number two as an "armchair general" with no combat experience, saying he not only lacked charisma and leadership skills but was also a divisive figure who could fracture Al-Qaeda.

US Defense Secretary Robert Gates, giving his valedictory press briefing at the Pentagon, warned to remind of the continuing Al-Qaeda threat. "First of all I think we should be mindful that this announcement by Al-Qaeda reminds us that despite having suffered a huge loss... Al-

Qaeda seeks to perpetuate itself, seeks to find replacements for those who have been killed, and remains committed to the agenda that bin Laden put before them."

Like his slain Saudi-born co-conspirator, Zawahiri has been in hiding since the United States declared its war on terror after the September 11, 2001 attacks.

Now Washington's most wanted man, Zawahiri was jailed for three years in Egypt for militancy and was implicated in the assassination of Egyptian president Anwar Sadat in 1981, and a 1997 massacre of tourists in Luxor.

Facing a death sentence, Zawahiri left Egypt in the mid-1980s initially for Saudi Arabia, but soon headed for Pakistan's northwestern city of Peshawar where the resistance to the Soviet occupation of Afghanistan was based, and then to Afghanistan, where he joined forces with bin Laden.

The Netherlands allows Syrian asylum seekers

Asylum seekers from Syria may stay in the Netherlands temporarily, Minister for Immigration and Asylum Gerd Leers announced yesterday. Rejected asylum seekers who have not yet returned to their homeland may also stay in the country for the time being.

Minister Leers made his decision in response to reports of continued unrest in Syria. It is difficult to assess the political and security situation in the country, he said. The Immigration and Naturalisation Service will temporarily refrain from deciding on Syrian asylum applications

Dutch Jews, Muslims appeal ritual slaughter plan

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands (AFP) - Jewish and Muslim representatives Thursday appealed to Dutch lawmakers not to enforce plans requiring animals to be stunned before halaal and kosher slaughtering rituals.

"We are against any form of stunning because it's against our religion," Yusuf Altuntas, president of the CMO -- an organisation that links the Muslim community with the Dutch government -- told a parliamentary commission.

"One of the first measures taken during the Occupation (during World War II) was the closing of kosher abattoirs," Dutch Chief Rabbi Binyomin Jacobs added.

Dutch law required animals to be stunned before being slaughtered but made an exception for ritual halaal and kosher slaughters.

The country's Party for Animals (PvdD) has submitted a proposal, if implemented, would see this exception abolished.

Soft drinks levied extra tax in Dominica

ORANJESTAD -- Timothy Julius, Minister of Public Health of the island nation of Dominica was one of the participants in the recently held PAHO conference on obesity here in Aruba. Based on the information that Julius gathered here from the conference, he immediately made the decision to implement certain changes in his country.

After briefing his Prime Minister on the conference, they decided to introduce an additional tax on all refreshments (soft drinks, soda pop) in the country. At the same time they made the decision to eliminate all import duty on bicycles. Through this means they intend to help reduce the consumption of soft drinks and drinks containing lots of sugar, which is believed to be one of the causes of obesity.

On the other hand, in an effort to promote physical movement and exercise and a healthy lifestyle, they decided to eliminate all import duty on bicycles.

The government of Dominica is intent on promoting the use of cycles as a means of transportation, which will inevitably serve as a form of exercise among the population.

It is very probable that the Dominican Minister got his ideas from the presentation given by professor of medical surgery at the University of Chile, Ricardo Uauy. It was Uauy who said that people will have to move more, more physical activity. He is of the opinion that 1 to 3 visits a week to a gym may be good, but a much better regimen is to determine to spend at least 30 minutes every day just walking.

His advice to the conference was that governments ought to increase the tax on gasoline and refreshments, and on the other hand eliminate all duty on bicycles to promote physical movement. At the same time we should ardently promote healthy eating.

Several of the conference participants expressed their resolve to implement certain changes and laws specifically related to health and fitness in their respective countries.

Most of the actions being taken today are after the Aruba Declaration was signed by a majority of the participating governments at the conference held here on the 9th and 10th of June.

Hollywood/Bollywood parties sizzle at Zizzles!

Barbara Mori flanked by Arabany Naranjo and Anthonie Hijmering

ATA CEO Ronella

An integral element of the Aruba International Film Festival is the theme parties that allow fans to share time with their favorite stars as well as becoming immersed in the glamorous world of film glitterati.

This year, Aruba's most spacious dinner/show club, Zizzles, hosted both events; not only a perfect venue for its elegant décor, it is conveniently located next to The Cinemas at Paseo Herencia, allowing the audience to maintain the mood of the films. It was only a few steps directly into the club after enjoying two red carpet premiers, "Meet Monica Velour" the opening night entry with Kim Cattrall, of "Sex in the City Fame" and "Kites," the Bollywood hit starring Indian superstar Hrithik Roshan and popular Mexican star Barbara Mori, who was on island for the screening.

Hollywood night party-goers enjoyed excerpts from the "D'Licious" show, with lead singer Jasper belting out some favorite tunes and Zizzles owner and cast surprising him with a birthday cake at the end of the show. The glittering, glamorous aspect of Aruba's Carnival had visiting international journalists on the dance floor demonstrating their best hip grinds in fine island fashion.

Bollywood night is truly a treat for the ladies, when many members of the local community, whether originally from India or not, don stunning sari's and traditional Indian dress for a most dramatic effect. It was a treat for the eyes and ears as the club featured some of the exciting tunes composed by Rasash Roshan for "Kites."

Whether guests decided to go for Hollywood or Bollywood excitement, the nights at Zizzles, sizzled!

WKF Kumite and Referee Seminar with Sensei W. Millerson and F. De Freitas

ORANJESTAD - Renown karate instructor, President of the Panamerican Karate Federation (PKF) and Vice President World Karate Federation (WKF), Sensei W. Millerson and PKF/WKF Referee A, Sensei Franklin de Freitas will be on Aruba for a two-day seminar, by invitation of the Board of the Aruba Karate Bond. The two gentlemen will give a seminar on WKF kumite (fighting) and WKF referee. The seminars are organized by the AKB Board of Directors and owners of Japan Karate Ryobukai Aruba.

The WKF kumite seminar is today, June 17, from 7:00 to 9:30 P.M. at Dojo Materano, situated at Colegio Conrado Coronel, Morgenster 54;

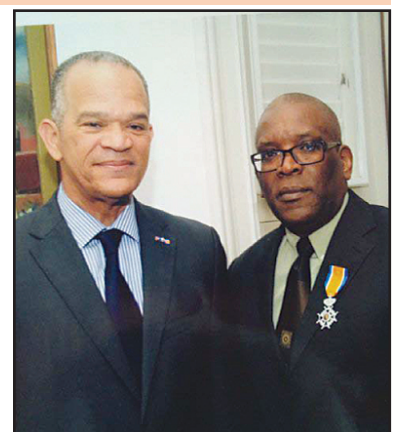

The WKF referee seminar is tomorrow, June 18 from 9:00 A.M. until noon and 2:00 to 6:00 p.m. at Dojo Yamazaki, situated at Colegio San Jose, Santa Cruz 35.

The Aruba Karate Bond is the only national institution on the island that can represent Japanese karate schools at the PKF, WKF, Aruba Olympic Committee and Aruba Sport Union. The Aruba Karate Bond was inactive for a few years due to intern conflicts; for that reason, the karate competitions on Aruba lost contact nationally and internationally.

In October 2010, renown karate school representatives, among them possible members of the Aruba Karate Bond, made an agreement with Aruba Sport Union to establish a new board of directors, in order to activate the defunct Aruba Karate Bond. A grand task, as there was no administration and the association rules and laws were not observed by the AKB board for decades.

A new board was installed

(according to that agreement) and consists of President - Mr. Roberto Pablo, Secretary - Mr. Paul Langerak, Treasurer - Mr. Rooney Boye and board member Mr. Francis Limonier. The seminars are part of the activities of the new Board to reactivate karate competition on Aruba.

For more information please contact Mr. Paul Langerak at cel.: 5696210

Sony's Music Unlimited comes to Android

TOKYO (AFP) – Sony has released an app making its Music Unlimited online streaming available on smartphones running Google's Android system, amid growing competition from Amazon and Apple in cloud-based services.

Sony's digital cloud-based music service, which launched in December and is available in Europe, the United States, Australia and New Zealand, allows users to stream millions of songs to Sony devices but previously lacked mobile access.

Sony last week said it would restore all Qriocity online music and video distribution services everywhere except Japan after shutting it and the PlayStation Network down in April after hackers compromised personal data from 100 million accounts.

The launch of the new app will make the service available on smartphones running Android as well as devices such as the PlayStation3, Internet-connected Sony televisions and Blu-ray players.

The app will be available to users in the United States, France, Germany, Ireland, Italy, Spain, Britain, Australia and New Zealand.

The service allows users to stream music content from a catalogue of more than seven million songs licensed from labels such as Universal Music Group, Sony Music Entertainment, Warner Music Group, EMI Music and independent labels.

Indonesia in hot water over dolphin release plans

JAKARTA (AFP) – Indonesia's plans to release captive dolphins directly into the sea rather than put them through a rehabilitation programme drew fire from animal welfare activists Thursday.

Activists said the dolphins from a zoo and a travelling circus would almost certainly die without any preparation for the wild, such as training to learn to swim straight, hunt and use their sonar.

US dolphin activist Ric O'Barry, who was featured in the 2009 Oscar-winning documentary "The Cove", said Indonesia would attract a lot of negative international publicity if it went ahead with its release plans.

"This is an opportunity for Indonesia to send a message to the rest of the world about how much it cares for nature," O'Barry was quoted as saying by the Jakarta Globe website.

German hackers convicted of stealing Lady Gaga songs

BERLIN (AFP) – Two young hackers were convicted in Germany Thursday of stealing new songs from stars such as Lady Gaga and Mariah Carey and offering them for sale on the Internet, a court said.

The local court in the western city of Duisburg found the defendants, aged 18 and 23, guilty of dozens of counts of violating copyrights and hacking confidential data, a spokesman said.

The teenager was handed an 18-month sentence at a young offenders' institute while the older defendant received an 18-month suspended sentence.

The two used Trojan horse software to gain access to the computers and e-mail accounts of the managers of high-profile artists, took unpublished songs and offered them for sale or download in 2009 and 2010.

The new material came from top-selling stars including Carey, Lady Gaga, Justin Timberlake, Leona Lewis and Kesha, the court said. Prosecutors say the two earned more than 15,000 euros ($21,000) with the scheme.

In addition, the 18-year-old downloaded explicit private photos from Kesha's computer and blackmailed her to give him an audio "shout out" which he could use to boost his own status in the hacker scene.

Seven children hospitalised in France by E. coli

rare cooked burgers

LILLE, France (AFP) – Seven children were hospitalised in France with E. coli infections after eating meat that manufacturers said could come from Germany, where an outbreak of the bacteria has killed 37 people.

The children, the youngest of whom is 20 months old, had eaten frozen hamburgers made by the French company SEB which said the meat was taken from animals slaughtered in three European countries and processed in France.

The cases come after a major E. coli outbreak that killed 38 people -- all in Germany except for one woman who died in Sweden after visiting Germany -- and sickened 3,300 people in 16 countries. Officials said the infection was a rare strain of the E. coli bacteria and was not linked to the similar outbreak in Germany.

"There's meat from Germany, there's meat from Belgium and from Holland" in the burgers, SEB chief executive Guy Lamorlette told AFP.

"There are several suppliers. We will have to await the test results to say which is contaminated."

A spokesman for the Regional Health Agency (ARS) in Lille, northern France, where six of the children were hospitalised on Wednesday, told AFP: "They are in a serious but not worrying state. Their lives are not at all in danger."

The "Steak Country" burgers were bought in French branches of German supermarket Lidl. SEB said it had recalled them and Lidl said it had removed them from its shelves in France.

The ARS official said the children had suffered from bloody diarrhoea, a symptom that also struck victims of the outbreak in Germany which has been blamed on infected vegetable sprouts.

The French infections "have no link at present with the recent epidemic in Germany," the official added, however.

In Brussels, the European Commission said it had been informed of the outbreak but "the origin of the meat has not been confirmed," said Frederic Vincent, spokesman for Health Commissioner John Dalli.

Lamorlette insisted that the suspect meat had been subjected to stringent tests and declared fit for human consumption, suggesting consumer negligence such as under-cooking or refreezing could be to blame.

Study: Olive oil could lower stroke risk – Older people who eat olive oil have a lower risk of stroke than those who do not, suggested a study of more than 7,000 French people that was published in the United States.

Researchers at the National Institute of Health and Medical Research in Bordeaux, France followed 7,625 people age 65 and older from three cities -- Bordeaux, Dijon and Montpellier -- for a period of five years.

During that time, there were 148 strokes. The subjects were divided into groups according to their use of olive oil, ranging from people who did not use it at all to those who used it in dressing, cooking and on bread.

When researchers adjusted for factors such as body weight, physical activity and overall diet, they found that the so-called "intensive" olive oil users had a 41 percent lower risk of stroke compared to those who never ate olive oil.

"Our research suggests that a new set of dietary recommendations should be issued to prevent stroke in people 65 and older," said study author Cecilia Samieri.

"Stroke is so common in older people and olive oil would be an inexpensive and easy way to help prevent it." (AFP)

Future Aruban Doctor also an emotive poet

After her incredibly splendid poetic declamation on Sunday at the unveiling of the Anne Frank statue, the name of Angelle Stamper will not be forgotten. Angelle literally moved the audience to tears which finally erupted into a spontaneous standing ovation. The young author of the poem "Freedom Within" said she never dreamed that her poem would stir such emotion and praise.

Angelle Stamper has been writing poems since her 12th birthday. Most of her poems are in English. The first time she participated in a public event was at the Arte di Palabra in 2009. At the declamation of poems among the islands she won second place for her work.

The remarkable thing about her poem at the unveiling of Anne Frank's statue is that it was on that very same day that Angelle composed her poem.

Angelle confided that in preparation for her presentation she researched the lives of Martin Luther King and Anne Frank. She said that the words of Martin Luther King inspired her greatly. During her presentation, as she read her poem with vigor and vitality, a sudden hush fell over the audience as everyone was glued to her words. She said... "When I walked away from the podium I turned to look to see if the applause was for me!"

Angelle is currently making final plans to head to Holland where she will commence her advance studies. She will be studying medicine or Bio-Medical Science.

Simultaneous Renewals ... One 30th and one 10th wedding anniversary!

When Rhonda and Rodney wanted to renew their vows 5 years ago in 2006 in celebration of their 25th wedding anniversary, they were put in contact with the people of "Ceremonies & Celebrations in Aruba." Their renewal of vows followed by a celebration was renew their vows again but this time of course for their 30th wedding anniversary. In Rhonda's own words "I really think it is important to renew vows periodically to remember what you promised to each other so many years ago. It is a reminder to keep the commit-spectacular. Fast forward to 2011 and they were ready to ment intact. It was really special to share that experience with our friends, The Halls."

Yes, Stephanie and Ernest Hall were so enthralled when they saw their original album of 5 years ago that they wanted to be part of this event as well. Ernest and Stephanie decided they wanted to renew their vows upon celebrating their 10th wedding anniversary.

On Wednesday, June 1,

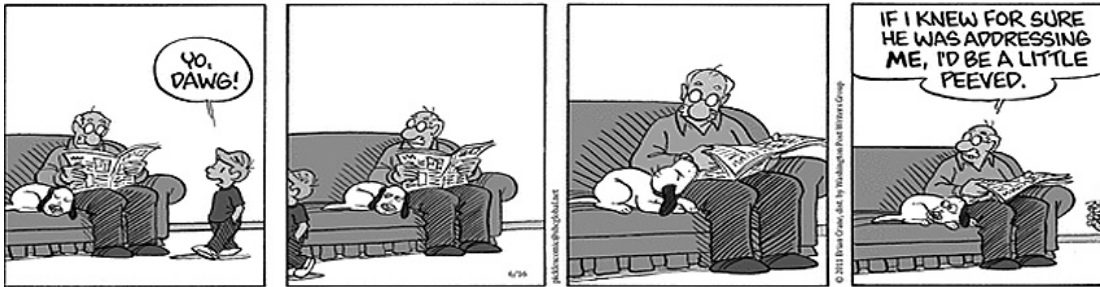

2011 this double celebration took place on the beach in front of Paradise Beach Villas/La Cabana. Mr. & Mrs. Walters commemorating their 30th Wedding Anniversary and Mr. & Mrs. Hall commemorating their 10th Wedding Anniversary. About 20 of their mutual friends accompanied them for this special day organized by "Ceremonies & Celebrations in Aruba. The ceremony was performed by a local pastor while the special moments were captured by Angela Munzenhofer.

Congratulations Mr. & Mrs. Walters AND Mr. & Mrs. Hall with your Double Renewal of Vows ... Come back and see us soon! Many Happy Returns from your photographer Angela of Bellaruba Photography and from your wedding planner Lissy Lampe of Ceremonies & Celebrations in Aruba

Carstens says IMF race not over yet

BEIJING, China (AFP) — Mexico's candidate to lead the IMF said that his battle with France's Christine Lagarde was not over yet after talks in Beijing on Thursday, while chastising Europe for not making it a fair fight.

Agustin Carstens, the governor of Mexico's central bank, is the clear underdog in the race to become the next managing director of the International Monetary Fund, following the resignation of Dominique Strauss-Kahn last month.

His campaign to win support from major emerging nations has faltered in the face of Lagarde's worldwide charm offensive, but he said officials in China, the world's second-largest economy, had "listened very carefully" to his pitch.

"Regrettably this time around, Europe didn't embrace the spirit of having a merit-based process," Carstens told reporters after meetings with his Chinese counterpart Zhou Xiaochuan and Finance Minister Xie Xuren.

Lagarde, France's finance minister, and Carstens were placed on the shortlist earlier this week by the IMF's 24-member board, which is expected to make a decision by June 30 after interviewing the candidates.

Carstens, who served as the IMF's number three from 2003-2006 before returning to Mexico City to become finance minister and then central bank chief, admitted that getting the top job would be difficult.

The 53-year-old University of Chicago-educated economist has repeatedly suggested that Lagarde could be too deeply involved in Europe's fiscal problems to be the unbiased, unsentimental leader the IMF requires.

The 55-year-old Lagarde, in addition to having Europe's support, has received public endorsements from Egypt, Indonesia and a number of African countries.

Carstens has only garnered the expressed support of a dozen Latin American countries -- but notably not yet Brazil or Argentina.

He met US Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner in Washington on Monday, and although a Treasury spokeswoman lauded Carstens' "strong mix of financial talent and political skills", the United States remained mum on its choice.

Tonnes in Dutch veggies lost over E. coli

THE HAGUE (AFP) — Dutch growers have taken some 30,000 tonnes of vegetables off the market since the killer E. coli bacterial outbreak, an interest group representing its commercial growers industry said Thursday.

"About 30,000 tonnes in total were destroyed, turned into compost, or used as animal feed," said Stephan ten Bosch, a spokesman for the organisation Productschap Tuinbouw (PT) told AFP.

"This is simply due to the fact that the demand diminished because of the general scare over the EHEC (E. coli) bacteria," he said.

Dutch vegetable farmers saw export markets crash, especially to its main business partner Germany, following the outbreak of enterohaemorrhagic E. coli there last month, which has killed 39 and put some 3,300 others in hospital.

Some 13,000 tonnes of cucumbers, 13,000 tonnes of tomatoes and 700 tonnes of peppers were among the vegetables destroyed, Productschap Tuinbouw said.

More than 150 million euros (212 million dollars) were lost in revenue since the outbreak started, it added.

German authorities identified locally grown vegetable sprouts as the source of the outbreak and lifted a warning against eating raw tomatoes, cucumbers and lettuce.

Chrysler recalls 11,000 vehicles to fix steering

NEW YORK, (AFP) — Chrysler is recalling more than 11,000 of its 2011 model year vehicles because of a potential steering problem, the US government said Thursday.

Certain vehicles "may have been built with a missing or incorrectly installed steering column pivot rivet," the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration said in a statement on its website.

The defect could increase the potential for injury in a frontal crash, the NHTSA said.

The recall covers 11,351 vehicles: the Chrysler 200, Chrysler 200 Convertible, Chrysler Town and Country, Dodge Avenger, Dodge Caliber, Dodge Grand Caravan, Dodge Journey, Dodge Nitro, Jeep Compass, Jeep Liberty, Jeep Patriot and Jeep Wrangler.

The recalled vehicles were built between April and May. Chrysler notified the NHTSA of the recall on June 7.

Japan region to cut power use with siestas

TOKYO, Japan (AFP) — As Japan looks to save electricity this summer amid its ongoing nuclear crisis, one regional government has come up with a novel solution not usually found in workplaces here -- siestas.

The government of central Gifu prefecture is urging its staff to go home for a nap between 1:00 and 3:00 pm to cut down on air conditioning and other power usage during the sweltering summer months of July to September.

"The siesta holiday, named after the afternoon break in Spain, is one of the ideas that came up as we were discussing how to slash electricity consumption amid tight supply," prefectural official Hiroshi Ichihara told AFP.

"Power consumption will go down if there are fewer people in the office," Ichihara said, adding that the government is aiming for a power cut of 20 percent during the 1:00-3:00 pm time slot, and of 11 percent for the year as a whole.

Gifu, like other areas of Japan, has struggled with a tight power supply since the March 11 quake and tsunami crippled the Fukushima nuclear plant on the coast north-east of Tokyo and led to other reactor shutdowns.

The civil servants of Gifu may be cheering the chance for a mid-day snooze, but there is a catch, according to the official -- their daytime nap hours will be deducted from their annual holiday entitlements.

Gold Coast Aruba: Great savings for large families on holiday rentals Aruba's newest and most innovative gated community has enjoyed steady sales since breaking ground, as many are finding the secure surroundings and outstanding amenities are just what they were looking for before considering purchasing property on the island. Some owners are using the villas or town homes as vacation retreats rather than full time and are taking advantage of Gold Coast's rental services to turn their investment into ready income.

"The greater portion of home owners are using their 'home away from home' in Aruba to escape the winter months, or spend holidays with the family on the island," noted Gold Coast developer Fito Croes. To assist in the demand for more complete facilities for groups and families, famed hotelier Ed Malone has been placed in charge of the rental program.

Staying at Gold Coast is a very attractive proposition for those traveling with groups that would require multiple hotel rooms. Two and three bedroom Villas or Town Homes accommodate large numbers and offer extensive amenities along with a final cost resulting in considerable savings. The community is minutes to the best beaches and all the casino action, and offers a quiet and secluded getaway with two swimming pools and specialized services with more on the way, such as a fitness room, tennis courts and mini-mall. Ed can arrange maid service, babysitters, caterers, airline pick-up and drop-off; they even boast a shopping service to stock your shelves before arrival.

“The Links” : First Woman’s Golf Tournament set for Saturday 18th

Everything is set for the first woman’s golf tournament sponsored by Disaronno.

This event is set for Saturday, June 18th and is expected to be fantastic.

Links Ladies, a group of ladies of “The Links” will set foot on the golf course at 3:00pm.

The group’s game formation will be a 2 person scramble.

The Aruba Trading Company team is expected to bring excitement to the tournament.

Upon departure the “Links Ladies” will be greeted by the marketing team and at the same time enjoy a refreshing welcome drink.

At the 6th hole they have prepared another refreshment stop. At the end of the tournament they will present the prizes and savor exotic drinks from Disaronno.

The ladies will have the opportunity to try the different drinks from Disaronno, then vote for the one they like best. The drink to receive the most votes will become the special drink at Mulligan’s during the rest of the month of June.

There will be a first and second prize, as well as a prize for the longest drive and closest to pin. All participants will receive a lovely memento for their participation. All prizes are sponsored by Disaronno.

Hantuchova beats Venus to end Williams sisters' run

EASTBOURNE, United Kingdom (AFP) – Daniela Hantuchova ended the Williams sisters' run at the Eastbourne grass-court event on Thursday as she finally triumphed after 10 losses in her career series with Venus.

The Slovak, who had previously won just two sets against the American, secured a gritty 6-2, 5-7, 6-2 quarter-final victory to send Venus out a day after her sister Serena lost to top seed Vera Zvonareva.

"I felt I came out and played well early in the match," said the winner.

"The wind picked up and made things tough for both of us. It was then about who had the mentality and I came through.

Hantuchova, ranked 25th in the world, laboured for two hours and 23 minutes after a delayed start due to rain in the area.

The Slovak, who played last week's Birmingham final, won her 27th match of the season and heads into a semi-final against fifth seed Petra Kvitová, who beat Poland's Agnieszka Radwanska 1-6, 6-2, 7-6 (7/2) in just under two hours.

The pair played their first match a decade ago and last met in Miami in March, where Williams won after coming back from losing the first set 1-6.

Williams, her ranking down to 33rd, was playing an event for the first time in five months after an abdominal injury that forced her to quit a match at the Australian Open in January.

BMX Aruba gets high praise at “III & IV Valida de la Copa Venezuela”

Last weekend the “III & IV Valida de la Copa Venezuela” took place in Valencia, Venezuela. This race was on the calendar of UCI with different athletes from several countries participating to receive their particular ranking.

Aruba participated with racers in the ‘challenger’ category and scored two championships at the races. Our representatives were Zaithyel and Zyqion Soekander, Erison Quant and Juanriq Martis. BMX Aruba congratulates our four races who did an outstanding job.

On Friday they were able to visit the race track. Saturday was the first race day where Zaithyel maintained his first place standing which qualified him to go for the final and finally become the Champion in the 14 years Boys’ category. Juanriq succeeded to qualify and went to final and maintained his second place standing in the Boys 8 year category. Zyqion did not qualify and remained at 6th place in the 11 years’ Boys category.

On Sunday Zaithyel scored first place which qualified him for the final. He ran an impressive race and concluded being Champion. He succeeded in winning every race.

Juanriq also scored and became Champion in the Boys’ 8 years category. Zyqion and Eric likewise qualified for final and succeeded respectively in third place in the Boys 13 year’s category and fifth place in the Boys 11 year’s category.

Aruba BMX racers continue to remain in the spotlight internationally. The next international UCI race in our region is scheduled to take place here in Aruba on the 24 to 26th of June at the Parke Jaburibari.

Boston beat Vancouver to win Stanley Cup followed by riots

VANCOUVER (AFP) – The Boston Bruins beat the Vancouver Canucks 4-0 in game seven of the Stanley Cup Final on Wednesday to win the National Hockey League

Tiger, Mickelson top SI money list

NEW YORK (AFP) – Tiger Woods edged Phil Mickelson for the top spot in Sports Illustrated's Fortunate 50 list of top US athlete moneymakers while Swiss tennis star Roger Federer led non-Americans to rank third overall.

Woods, who missed this week's US Open golf championship with a left knee injury, set the pace in figures released Thursday, as he has in all eight years of the magazine's study, with $62,294,116 in prize money and endorsements.

In the wake of his infamous sex scandal and a win drought that has reached 20 months, Woods plunged from his 2008 figure of $127.9 million and is off by $10 million from 2010 and $32 million from 2009.

Mickelson, who turned 41 on Thursday as he began play at Congressional country Club, was second on $61,185,933. His $57 million in endorsements was $3 million shy of Woods but he won nearly twice as much in prize money.

Federer topped the international list of 20 at $52,781,940, edging Filipino boxing icon Manny Pacquiao, who was fourth overall at $52,500,000. Spanish auto racer Fernando Alonso was next on $45 million.

Among the Americans, NBA star LeBron James ranked third overall with $44.5 million followed by NFL star Peyton Manning on $38.07 million, baseball's Alex Rodriguez at $36 million and NBA playmaker Kobe Bryant at $34.8 million.

The Bruins won the Stanley Cup for the first time since 1972 and denied the Canucks' bid to become the first Canada-based club since Montreal in 1993 to capture the trophy.

The Bruins became the first team in NHL history to win a game seven three times in the same postseason.

They beat Montreal in game seven in the first round and Tampa Bay in the Eastern Conference finals, although both of those games were on home ice in Boston.

Riots stun Vancouver, leave nightmare cleanup

Vancouver faced a nightmare cleanup and mounting security questions Thursday after furious hockey fans set parts of the city ablaze and clashed with police, leaving a reported 150 people injured in Canada's worst riots in years.

The city in normally sedate western Canada was largely calm but in a state of shock early Thursday, after hooligans including fans of the Vancouver Canucks pour into the streets to torch police cars and loot several stores.

Cleanup crews were out in force, but downtown streets were still full of smashed glass, scores of businesses remained closed and some bus routes were still not operating, after public transit shut down Wednesday night, stranding thousands after bus drivers declared they were not safe.

As the Canucks' dream of winning Canada's first NHL championship in 18 years collapsed, the city was plunged into dangerous chaos for several hours.

Disgruntled fans set police cruisers on fire and police in riot gear used tear gas to break up unruly mobs, as hospitals reported injuries from stabbings, falls, head injuries and the gas.

Fights broke out in the crowded streets even before the game ended, and by the time the Bruins accepted the cup inside Rogers Arena, windows were being smashed outside, stores looted and fires set until black smoke blanketed downtown, where an estimated 100,000 hockey fans had gathered.
